

Associate

Douglas Montgomery

B.A. (Hons.), M. Phil., J.D.

T 416.646.6313

E douglas.montgomery@paliareroland.com

F 416.646.4301

Assistant:

Kimberly Blake

T 416.646.7413

E kimberly.blake@paliareroland.com

Douglas Montgomery joined the firm as an associate after clerking with the Honourable Michael J. Moldaver at the Supreme Court of Canada. Douglas' practice focuses on contractual and commercial disputes, public law, professional discipline and regulation, and class proceedings. Douglas has a particular interest in issues of statutory interpretation.

Prior to his law studies, Douglas worked in the public sector on regulatory modernization initiatives. As a student at Osgoode Hall Law School, he received several awards for mooting and academic achievement, including the Canadian Bar Association's Paul Smith Memorial Essay Award.

Education

Osgoode Hall Law School, J.D., 2018

University of Bergen (Norway), M.Phil, 2009

University of Alberta, B.A. (Hon.), 2007

Bar Admissions

Ontario, 2019

Practice Areas

Paliare Roland

Appeals and Judicial Review

Class Actions

Commercial Litigation

Defamation, Libel and Slander

Estates and Trusts

Professional Discipline and Regulation

Public and Administrative Law

Representative Work

Richard Stephenson, Emily Lawrence and Douglas Montgomery represented a trade union in a complex arbitration involving drug and alcohol testing in nuclear facilities, and in a related constitutional challenge in Federal Court to a regulatory instrument imposing drug and alcohol testing in nuclear facilities. Richard, Emily and Douglas obtained interim stays from the arbitrator and the Federal Court of the implementation of drug and alcohol testing in nuclear facilities, pending final disposition (2022 FC 73).